Dear Roy Yew-Hung Chan,

The enclosed invoice shows the fees payable for your participation and the payment methods which we can accept. If you wish to pay on line, please copy the URL below.

When the new window opens enter your customer account number 1-CH-C10905 and follow the instructions (the above link to the online payment tool is also available on the LSE-PKU Summer School website under Fees and payments).

Payment in full is required to confirm your place on the programme. As places on the LSE-PKU Summer School are limited, please let us know immediately if you are unable to take your place on the programme so that we can offer your place to another applicant.

Students are responsible for arranging their own accommodation, travel and visas and we advise you to do this as early as possible. Please see the relevant section on our web-site for further information.

Upon payment, you will receive further information to assist you in your preparations for your travel to and study in Beijing. If you have any further queries, please check the Frequently Asked Questions section on the programme's web-site or contact the London Office:
