Dear Roy,

The UCI Alumni Association's Alumni Regent Selection committee has completed its initial evaluation of candidates, and I write with sincere regret to say that we are not able to offer you an in-person interview.

I realize that this decision may come as a disappointment. I hope that you will understand the decision as a reflection only of the extraordinary talent represented in our applicant pool, not a judgment about your own qualifications. Of the more than 30 individuals who expressed an interest in the alumni regent appointment, most are fully capable of being successful and making a unique contribution to the University of California.

While I regret that we were not able to respond positively to your interest in becoming the next UC Alumni Regent, I want to express my sincerest appreciation for your thoughtful application and interest in serving the university in this manner

I hope that you will consider the position once again during UC Irvine's next appointment opportunity. In the meantime, if you would like to discuss other volunteer leadership positions at UC Irvine, please call me directly at 949-824-9741 or send me an e-mail at jancona@uci.edu.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink that reads "Jorge Ancona". The signature is fluid and cursive, with the first letter of "Jorge" being a large, prominent capital letter.
